Dear Horst,

I am happy to inform you that the Evaluation of Research Proposals and Results Subcommittee (CERP) of the IPA have approved your grant application 1569: Conversational aspects of the unconscious, which received a very high ranking in a highly competitive field. The grant will be funded in the amount of $5000 to support your research project which, we understand, is somewhat less than requested. This reduction reflects limitations in the funds available to support research in combination with the large number of outstanding grant applications received by the CERP. If you are not able to use this level of funding to support your project please inform us immediately so that we can redistribute the funds.

The following narrative comments were provided by reviewers for our committee. I am forwarding them in the hope that you find them useful:

- 1) This is a truly lovely piece of research that moves investigation both clinical and theoretical forward.
- 2) This probably is a very worthy project. However, the authors have not provided sufficient documentation to permit this reviewer to appraise the appropriateness of the re-transcription, since no example is provided of what the end product will be, nor does there appear to be a reference that I may look up to see what the end product of this research would be, and appraise how this might meet the needs of the proposed close process study. The study itself seems very worthwhile.

The funds will be sent from the IPA office in London to the designated Responsible Authority in due course.

The conditions under which this grant was made were outlined in the original application materials. The document "General Conditions Covering IPA CERP Grants" can be found on our website www.ipa.org.uk by clicking here. You must also attest that the funding we are providing will be used toward the project described in the original submission.

The IPA is a NFP/Charity membership organization with registration in the USA (04-3392655) and the UK (1071752). Our grant procedures do not allow for the funding of overhead or indirect costs. Travel directly relevant to the award such as to a research training project or to present the findings of the work is acceptable. Secretarial support is also acceptable but only if it is directly relevant to the research, not as an overhead.

The next steps for you to take are as follows:

Please indicate your acceptance of the terms and conditions contained in this letter and the “General Conditions Covering IPA CERP Grants,” by signing this letter and returning an original either by post to Mike Tilley, Membership Services Manager, International Psychoanalytical Association, Broomhills, Woodside Lane, London N12 8UD, or by fax to +44 (0) 20 8445 4729 or as an image appended to an email addressed to mike@ipa.org.uk. Please remember that that no award funds will be released until documentation of IRB approval of your project has been received.

With all best wishes for the success of your work.

Sincerely,

Robert M. Galatzer-Levy, M.D.
