Accreditation of TPI by European Confederation of Psychoanalytic Psychotherapies (ECP): Having applied to become a Member Institute of ECP, the first stage of our evaluation had to involve the evaluation of Dr. Tooraj Moradi's credentials and CV. He was thus certified by ECP as "Training Analyst" and "Supervisor." In the second stage which took place in April 2012, Dr. Markus Fah from Switzerland, the vice-president of ECP, made a site visit of TPI. After inspection of our offices and educational resources, he met with TPI students and faculty and conducted his clinical questions. The result of this site visit which will reflect our application for Membership will soon be issued after Dr Fah presents his report to the ECP Executive Committee.

Activation of the Research Committee in TPI: Pursuant to the dedication of Mohammad Dehganpour, one of the very first students of Dr. Moradi in psychoanalytic psychotherapy who is presently continuing his studies in the same field in Canada, the Research Committee has begun its activities. The Committee's goals are as follows:

1. Evaluation of the efficacy of training, supervision and therapy provided at TPI , as well as feedback to the faculty and therapists.
2. Cooperation with scientific societies, Master's level and Doctoral students in their researches which may involve furtherance of psychoanalytic knowledge in Iran.

Expansion of the Activities of the Psychoanalysis for the Public Committee: Following continued efforts of the Committee members, Dr. Jafarinejad (its Chairperson) and the organizing efforts of Dr. Fatemi, the activities of the Committee have had a considerable increase in number. These activities, some already in place and some being authored and planned, are as follows:

1. Parent-Child Subcommittee:

TPI Library: 1500 psychoanalytic books were just added to TPI library. We express our utmost gratitude and appreciation to all the psychoanalysts and colleagues in the US who made these exceptional gifts to our library. Further, we express our deepest gratitude and appreciation to Dr. Kamelia Alavi for her dedication in collection of these books which not only consisted of the book drives she organized for us but her picking them up as well, when needed.
